WOUNDED BANDIT FOUND NEAR SCENE OF HOLD-UP.

Engineer of Oregon Train, Accidentally Shot by Messenger, Tells How Robbery Was Frustrated.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 24.—Shortly after the special train bearing the Sheriff's so arrived at the scene of the attempthold-up of the Oregon Raffroad and Navigation train near Corbett, one of the gang of outlaws was found at 2:30 this morning a short distance up the track badly wounded from a charge of buckshot which he had received in the head.

The bandit said that his name was Jim but refused to make known the names of any of the other bandits or the direction in which they went.
Ollie L. Barrett, the wounded engineer,

"As soon as the sound of the explosion had died away I was ordered to go ahead of the party back toward the car. Instead of obeying orders I stopped behind a rather slender man, one of the handits, and the fireman followed me. The taller man was in the rear. We were twenty feet from the express car when the messenger from the express car when the messenger fired and killed the robber in front of me. The builet, we afterwards found, went through his heart and then struck me in

"As I felt the bullet strike me I called to the taller man that I was shot and that Tay left arm had gone. The tall man told me it was all right, that I might go back to the engine with the ireman and go alread. We examined the small man to however. ahead. We examined the small man first however, and found he was killed."

LAWYER SAYS HE WAS KEPT PRISONER FOR A MONTH.

New York, Sept. 24.-Kept a prisoner in a factory in this city for a month and stupefied by drugs so that he could make no affort to escape to prevent him from exposing the secrets of a patent process for cleaning furs, is the remarkable story old by Ernest C. Webb, a lawyer, when he was arrested by a policeman who was armed with a warrant, sworn out by Mrs. Webb, charging her husband with abandonment. The wife's charge was a ruse to get into a factory, as several previous attempts

According to Webb's statement, he was induced about a month ago to go to the induced about a month ago to go to the place, and has since been unable to leave it. He was locked in a back room on an upper floor, where his meals were brought, and considerable quantities of whisky, which, he declares, contained drugs. The police found Webb lying on a roll of blankets alongside some machinery which was not in use. He was in a disheveled condition and had every appearance of having been under the influence of drugs.

Julius Trelloehr, owner of the factory, said to-day that Webb had aided him in a legal contest over a patent and that the a legal contest over a patent and that the ellegation that Webb had been kept a "Webb did not want to return home and I let him sleep in the factory; but he was out every day," added Mr. Trelloehr.

TURNER'S SECOND TRIAL

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Knights of Father Mathew.

Miss Mamie O'Laughlin of No. 1114 North Sixth street has been chosen queen of the annual dress ball, which will be given by St. Patrick's Council, No. 4, Knights of Father Mathew, at Pickwick Hall, October 17. .

Several young ladies were mentioned for the honor, but Miss O'Laughlin had the greatest number of supporters. The selection has proven popular, as Miss O'Laughlin is conceded to be the handsomest young lady in St. Patrick's Parish. Heretofore great rivalry has existed for this honor. Last year a young lady residing outside the boundaries of the parish was queen of the ball. The ball will be attended by representatives of all parishes and Irish-American societies in St. Louis. The grand march will be led by Phil Burgess and Miss O'Laughlin,

SPECIAL TAX BILLS DECLARED VOID.

Judge McDonald Decides There Has Been a Misconstruction of Charter Provisions.

AFFECTS MANY CONTRACTS.

Question of the Method to Be Used in Measuring Area of Lots Is Point at Issue.

A decision of Circuit Judge McDonald yesterday, if upheld by the Supreme Court, will cause a complication in regard to the collection of special taxes for street improvements involving large amounts, and may result in heavy loss to con-

EDWARD H. BOWIE,

Local Forecaster. Judge McDonald declared void a tax bill for $1.952.68, assessed against property owned by E. F. W. Meier, former president of the City Council, for the improvement of Texas avenue between Miami and Potomac streets.

Judge McDonald held the tax bill to be defective, in that the district on which three-fourths of the cost of the improvements was assessed was not established in accordance with the requirements of the City Charter. In the improvement of streets one-fourth of the cost is assessed against the property abutting the street in proportion to the frontage and the rest according to the area of the property.

The question involved is in regard to establishing the area, which should be Caire done, it is stated, by lines drawn half way between the street being reconstructed and the parallel streets on either side. Meler claimed the line affecting his property was not drawn correctly.

He also claimed that the mode of taxation was in violation of sections 3 and 4 of article 10 of the Constitution of Mis-souri. Section 2 provides that taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subsouri. Section a provides that takes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax.

Section 4 provides that all property subject to taxation shall be taxed in proportion to its value.

Meler sued the city, Hiram Phillips, President of the Board of Public Improvements, Comptroller James Y. Player and Henry Ruckert, who did the work, to enjoin the delivery of the tax bill in question to Ruckert.

Judge McDonald granted the petition and ordered the lien against Meler's property because of the tax bill released.

POLICE RAID "TICKER GAME."

Say Fictitious Market and Stock Reports Were Given.

Special officers from the Central District about noon yesterday raided what they term a "fake ticker game" at No. 301 Pine street, and seven men were taken to the Four Courts.

The prisoners gave their names as Charles Langan, John Simpson, George Burnes, Frank Wise, Walter Park, Fred Frank and Al Kneass. Langan, the police say, is manager of the place.

Special Officers Madsen, Sullivan, Ryan and Scanlan made the arrests. Madsen declares that a tape machine is operated in the place, on which fictitious market and stock reports are given to induce petty speculators to invest their money. The machine, according to the detectives, is not operated by the telegraph company, as are those in the regular bucket-shops and elsewhere, but the tape is fixed before it is put into the machine, and is unrolled by a device attached to a telegraph instrument in another part of the Charles Langan, John Simpson, George graph instrument in another part of the Warrants will be applied for to-day.

ELEVATOR FIRE SHUTTERS. Chief Swingley Returns, Favoring New Device. Chief Swingley returned yesterday from the annual convention of fire chiefs at Atlantic City. He also spent two days in Philadelphia. He inspected some fireproof elevator cages while away, and was favorably impressed with them.

The cages surround the elevator on each floor and may be opened and closed like shutters on windows. In case of fire the shutters are closed, and thus the elevators may continue running until all the persons on the upper floors have been taken

The Chief enjoyed a fishing trip on the yacht of Chief Weigenhahn of Atlantic City while at the convention, but he re-fuses to reveal the number of fish that he caught, for the reason, he says, that he has lived in St. Louis too long to have his friends begin to doubt his veracity now.

GIRL SAVES HER NIECE BY LEAPING FROM TRESTLE.

Jump in Time to Avoid Freight Train Near Edwardsville.

Miss Clara Morgan, an Iowa girl, saved her own life and the life of a little niece, Wednesday afternoon, near Edwardsville, by quick thought and equally quick action. Miss Morgan is a guest of her sister, Mrs. Charles A. Sheppard, with whom she spent the summer. Wednesday she went for a stroll with her niece, a small child not yet of school age.
Returning they decided to cross the Clover Leaf trestle and were only half way across when the rumble of a freight train sounded back of them. Picking up the little one Miss Morgan ran for the west side. The valley in the center is seventy-live feet below the tracky but slopes abruptly at the sides.

While still a score of yards from the end the girl heard the rumble of the wheels grow in volume until the whole bridge vibrated. A glance over her shoulder showed the engine almost upon her. The brake shoes were grinding at the wheels, but the momentum was carrying the train onward upon them.

market. The Pennsylvania Railroad alone recently used $50,000,000 in a lump. You can easily estimate for yourself what the others would need. Our American system has used a large sum and nearly all the other lines have followed the same course. But things will right themselves. The stringency is a natural one and there is no cause for alarm." wheels, but the momentum was carrying the train onward upon them.

Stepping to one side of the track Miss Morgan gathered the little one closer in her arms and then lesped. The trainmen saw her flash downward and before the cars stopped they scrambled out to go to her assistance. No assistance was required, however. The young persons struck on a slant where the earth was soft, and although they fell a considerable distance, neither was injured.

The train started up at once and by so doing narrowly averted a rear-end collision on the bridge. The caboose had not left the latter when engine No. 124, running light, shot on to the structure. Official Forecast Announced for

diss Clara Morgan and Little Child Ray Caskey, Who Told a Fictitious Tale of Privations, Reclaimed

> J. D. Caskey of No. 504 St. Louis even-ue, East St. Louis, yesterday morning identified as his son Itay, the 8-year-old boy who on Tuesday told a harrowing tale to the Overseer of the Poor of Belleville and who was sent to the County Farm. He said that his name was "Willie Tread.

Ray said that he had not a single living relative and that he had been cast out on the world. It developed that the boy had run away from home last Saturday and it was believed had followed the carnival company which had shown in East St. Louis. Mr. Caskey followed the comapny to Decatur and learned that the boy had not gone with the show, although several of the attaches remembered a boy who had been hanging about the wagons and who answered Ray's description.

On Mr. Caskey's return to East St. Louis he was informed that a small boy had been sent to the County Farm.
Ray among other things said that he was an orphan, that his mother had been dead several years and that about three weeks ago his father had been killed in a fight with a burglar. He stated that he had been sheltered by some of the neighbors, but had finally been ordered to make his own way in life. He said a priest told him to go to Overseer Hill.
When Mr. Caskey asked his son why he ran away from home the little fellow replied that it was all for fun and that he liked traveling and the attentions which were given to him by grown persons. had been hanging about the wagons and

Doctor J. B. Winn, North Missouri's oldest physician, took place here this after-noon, conducted by the Reverend J. A. Snarr, Presiding Elder of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Doctor Winn was born in Virginia in May, 1815. He died Wednesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Martha Vaughn, in of his daughter, Mrs. Martha Vaughn, in Kirkwood. A few years ago a meeting of the Macon County Medical Association was called to honer Doctor Winn's ball century of continuous service in the profession. There was a banquet, at which speeches were made by the doctors, and Doctor Winn was the recipient of a handsome souvenir.

Long before such towns as Moberly, Brookfield and Macon were thought of Doctor Winn was in the saddle, esponding to calls from Randolph, Linn and Macon ounties. During the ploneer days he kept five blooded horses in his stables, near the old town of Bloomington, and those animals saw service. It was Doctor Winn's proud record that he never hesitated on account of weither or distance when summoned to relieve the sick. In those days doctors were scarcer than preachers, and one who was willing to go in obedience to all calls vertaally lived in the saddle.

Nearly all the medical men of the county attended the services this afternoon, and many old friends from the cules elso came to honor the faithful old thoneer doctor. Doctor Winn was a Mason and a and many old friends from the cities elso came to honor the faithful old ploneer doctor. Doctor Winn was a Mason and a member of the Methodist "piscopal Church, South. At his request the following old-time hymns were sung at the obsequies: "How Firm a Foundation." "On Jordan's Stormy Banks I Stand," and "When I Can Read My Title Clear."

The interment was in Oakwood Cemetery, beside the wife, who died in 1899.

FREE TO DYSPEPTICS.

A Little Book Published by the Eupepsia Chemical Company Contains Lots of Common Sense for Dyspeptics and Much Good
Advice for Those Who Do
Not Want to Be Dyspeptic.

It Is Sent Free to All who Write for It Americans have been called, with some justice, a nation of dyspeptics, and to a people with a reputation so well established a little talk on digestion, such as is contained in this book, is not out of place. It contains some plain facts of value to the healthy, as well as the dyspeptic. Among other things of note, it dwells upon the almost universal habit of compelling the poor, hard-working stomach to undertake the task of digesting a hantily eaten, badly masticated load of unsultable food, at a time when it is exhausted in common with the rest of the body, by It suggests a overexertion or fatigue. diet for the healthy and the sick, and for dyspeptics it offers the prescription of a specialist that enjoys the confidence of physicians and the general public—a remedy in tablet form, which has been found in practical use to be a positive cure for dyspepsia and all stomach disorders arising from imperfect digestion. This remedy is called Eupepsia Tablets. It promptly stops all distress and restores the natural digestive action; prevents acidity, stops beiching and bloating, heals stomach ulcers and wards off cancerous tendencies.

Mr. H. Cole, 7th and Wolf St., Little Rock. Ark., writes. Hock, Ark., writes.

I have suffered from indigestion for the past ten years, and in that time tried everything that money could buy. After trying one bottle of Eupepean Tablets, beinght from Bonds Pharmacy Company of Little, Rock, I was immediately relieved and have recommended them to thousands of my friends. When I commenced taking Eupepean I weighed 137 pounds and new weigh 120 pounds, and credit my health to Eupepean Tablets. May your company live long and prosper with this grand remedy.
